
BidSL will open on 9/8/07

Thank you for visiting BidSL. We will be opening on Saturday at 9:00 am Second Life Time (SLT). When we unlock the Second Life parcel containing the main BidSL auction house, the first thirty people to list an item for auction will have the rental fee returned to them.

When you enter BidSL, you will see auction units arranged by categories, and some featured auction units along the main aisle. Please feel free to select any auction unit showing as available. The free rental promotion includes the rental of the featured auction units. These are limited in number however, so first come first serve. To rent an auction unit, touch its screen, chat (type) the number of days that you want your auction to run, and then right click the screen and choose "pay" from the pie chart. The amount you pay will be refunded to you shortly afterward (but not instantly; our banker will refund the rental fees to you manually by paying you directly.

If you have questions or desire a sneak peek prior to our opening, please IM JimJimJim Allen inworld.

Happy selling and bidding!
