Very pleased.

Longer description (optional) -

I won my first two auctions at Bidsl that were both listed by the same seller - Valueline aka DD Etzel. The first was the light version of the xpressions skin, and the second was a pink turtleneck sweater. Both are top-notch products and I appreciate that the skin comes with several different make up configurations and that the sweater actually included three shades of pink. I've had good comments when wearing both the skin and sweater and nobody can believe what I got them for. Overall, a great seller.
